

PROGRAM LOCATIONS

Our program locations are based on the history and/or current events of the geography, needs assessments, poverty levels and proximity of the local community's location to an appropriate medical provider. We also consider the potential for building strong relationships with local manufactures and the risk of overlap with the work of international organizations. Additionally, a program partner's willingness to work as a team is important, since scalable and effective programs require much more than just financial support.

PROGRAM PARTNERS

Our partners are selected based on how well they align with our mission to provide free orthopedic care to children with limb disabilities. We assess the quality of their services, technical and medical qualifications, bedside manner as well as their selection of materials. In order to ensure that funds are used responsibly, we also look at their operational capacity and fiduciary responsibility. Each year, every existing, new, and potential partner goes through this rigorous but integral vetting process.

LONG-TERM IMPACT

Our partners invest in their own program infrastructure, funding administrative and overhead expenses – like staff salaries and utilities – so that 100% of ALTSO's funding can directly support patient services. Our partners also invest in forming strong relationships with community leaders and representatives, partnering with local government, and ensuring that the most remote populations are being reached.

CHILDREN SERVED IN 2015

In 2015, we provided 1,512 children in 10 developing countries free prosthetic limbs, orthotic devices, mobility aids, corrective surgery and rehabilitative care.

This is what Cool looks like.

From Asia to Africa to Latin America, ALTSO kids are the coolest - not because we say so, but because they say so. The goal of this portrait series is to raise awareness and build self-esteem for children with limb disabilities in the developing world. By showcasing their unique personalities, positive attitudes, likes and ambitions, our aim is to provide not only the gift of mobility, but a medium for self-expression and creativity. In doing so, we're helping to remove social stigmas and change the face of disability in the developing world. To meet the kids, visit www.altso.org/coolkidportraits.

Refan

Clever, cute and incredibly mischievous, this kindergartener will keep you on your toes. Refan is a boy's boy, goofing around every chance he gets. He loves to climb, play the bongos and ride his bike around the neighborhood. Watching him coast on his training-wheeled mini bike, you would think he's cruising down Route 66. His dream is to become a pilot, but first he has his sights set on learning how to swim. He's a coolkid not because we say so, but because he says so.

Kadek Nia

At 4 feet 1 inch tall, this cutie packs a giant personality into a tiny package. She's a girl's girl who loves the color pink. She proudly boasts that she has over 30 friends, including a bestie with the same name. Her favorite thing in the world is singing the Frozen theme song which she performs flawlessly. She's a coolkid not because we say so, but because she says so.
